

Dear Customer,

I hope this message finds your teams and families personally unaffected by this virus. We are all challenged by the unprecedented nature of COVID-19 and we appreciate that your business is likely significantly impacted. We understand one of the areas that is most severely impacted is the availability of PPEs, or Personal Protective Equipment.

Hologic received several inquiries from customers for any surplus PPEs we may have. Unfortunately, Hologic is not a significant consumer of PPE products and our own limited inventory is also negatively affected by the current situation. We need to maintain our limited inventory to ensure our ability to produce our recently approved SARS-COV-2 test in compliance with all FDA and Safety requirements; we are working 24/7 to ramp up this supply for customers.

Please know that all our customers are in our thoughts as we work to combat this global health crisis. Together we will achieve our common purpose - to enable healthier lives everywhere, every day.

Best Regards,
